Ja, HR. I got home from Baltimore in time for the evening TV news. NBC&s was almost all WG, so to the extent they reported it, I am aware of the new sensations. Didn't read Post before leaving (Ed clipped while I was away), nor the Sun, which I got in Baltimore. Instead, both ways on the bus and for a two-hour wait in the terminal, I read a bad book that for me is a good book, Sheridan's. My purpose initiating this line off from the things I have to clean up is a possible small footnote. At 8:25, a few minutes ago, what could have been GL's copter went overhead, directly pointed to Bethesda-Chevy Chase Catacting. I heard it in advance, it was that high. It had its landing-lights on before it came into view. Symbolism? Too dark to be sure GL's, but right outlines and sounds (they do have different sounds). To be alone? Or almost? He has misplayed this one badly, to me another sign of guilt. He could yet be the first to resign or be impeached. What was on TV makes him a virtual criminal in the Ellsberg deal and Ehrlichman without question a criminal, despite his lofty self-assurance. Maybe now we know why he got a lawyer, same as Haldeman-and GL at least saw him. HM 5/1/73
